This Christmas don't get it horribly wrong

I wonder if you ever get things horribly wrong, making assumptions which prove to be far from the truth.

The other day I was telling the story of a minister who, like myself, conducts wedding services. At one particular wedding service and at the appropriate moment, the minister asked, as required by law, for anyone present who knows a reason why these persons should not lawfully marry, to declare it now.

The moment of silence was broken by a beautiful young woman carrying a child. She started walking towards the Minister, slowly from the back of the church.

Everything quickly turned to chaos. The bride slapped the groom. The groom's mother fainted. The best man and ushers started giving each other looks, wondering how best to help save the situation.

The Minister then asked the woman, "Can you tell us why you came forward! What, do you have to say?" Everyone fell silent, straining to hear what she would say.

The woman replied quite slowly, "we just can't hear very well at the back."

Do you ever jump to conclusions, and get it horribly wrong?

This could happen for many people this Christmas. We could believe what we are told by the commercial interests around us that it is just a passing celebration, or we could look beyond what is on the surface for something deeper, more lasting and ultimately more satisfying. This is especially important, if we find Christmas to be a difficult time, because of the loss of a loved one or a relationship or a job or any kind of loss.

Recently someone was telling me that he had not had a good experience of organised religion when he was younger, but he could not stop being intrigued by the person of Jesus Christ and his significance for the world.

The shepherds were of course told by the angel in Luke 2.10 – 12: "do not be afraid. I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. Today in the town of David a Saviour has been born to you; he is Christ the Lord. This will be a sign to you: you will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger."

He did not have a promising start to his human existence. He was born some 2000 years ago in poverty in a backwater of the Roman Empire and was reared in obscurity. He never went to university. He never held any office. He did not travel extensively. He never wrote a book.

When he died at the age of 33 after only three years of public ministry, he was deserted by his friends and after an unjust trial was nailed to a cross between two thieves. When he was dead, he was laid in a borrowed grave.

But he is remembered, when the great political leaders and philosophers of his day have come and gone.

His followers at the time claimed they had seen him alive again, and they were so clear on this that it changed the whole course of the rest of their lives; and his message spread far and wide right up until today when millions have been changed through encountering him and continue to follow him.

As the writer Dr James Francis said: "No one has affected the life of mankind on earth as powerfully as that one solitary life."

He is worth exploring and finding out more about this Christmas. You will be very welcome at any of our services, and you will find details of our Christmas services at St Laurence's on page 14 of this Grapevine.

My wife and I, and everyone at St Laurence's, send our best wishes for a very happy and peaceful Christmas.

The Worcester-Birmingham & Droitwich Canals Society

Tony Brannon writes...

The Worcester-Birmingham & Droitwich Canals Society's next meeting is on December 6th. As it's December we will be holding our annual Natter, Noggin, Fun Quiz & Musical Bingo night. Team maximum of 4/5 for the quiz.

All welcome you do not need to be a member but if you are not members then please contact Tony Brannon on 07763 468893 or email fiftyeight@talktalk.net to register your team advising how many will be in it. Very limited space is available in the meeting room so it's on a 'first come first served' basis with preference given to members. 7.45pm for an 8pm start. Meetings are held in the meeting room at the rear of The Weighbridge pub.

St Laurence Women's Fellowship

Jill Woolley writes...

At our meeting in October Richard Churchley's talk about unusual Saints and Churches was very informative particularly as several are to be found in Worcestershire.

At our meeting on December 14th - not our usual Wednesday - we will celebrate Christmas with a shared lunch starting at 1.00pm.

We start the programme for 2017 on January 25th when Ann Davenport a courier for Johnson's Coaches will tell of her travels. On February 22nd we will be entertained by Tony Bredon the Music Man.

Fancy something new in the New Year? Come and join us in the Tanyard Centre at 2pm. We send everyone our Christmas Greetings and every good wish for the New Year.

Alvechurch Baptist Church Christmas Tree Festival 2016

Revd Fiona Lee writes...

The time is almost here! From Sunday 11th – Sunday 18th December, Alvechurch Baptist Church will be lit up with Christmas trees, decorated through the words of a carol by organisations and groups from around the village. Here is the programme of events taking place during the Festival - you will be most welcome, and this gives us all the chance to be part of something very special at this time of year:

Sunday 11th December – refreshments from 3pm, with the Festival Opening Carol Service at 4:30pm;

Monday 12th December – church open from 10am to see the trees and enjoy some quiet time, Children's Activity Afternoon from 3:30-5pm;

Tuesday 13th December – church open from 10am, Business Lunch from 12-3pm, Informal Concert with Withybed Poets and the harp from 6-7pm;

Wednesday 14th December – church open from 10am, Simple Lunch available from 12-2pm, Christingle Service and Afternoon Tea 2:30-4pm, The Lounge Christmas Market and Food from 7pm;

Thursday 15th December – church open from 10am, ABC Study Group Christmas Readings 10:30-11:30am, Simple Lunch available 12-2pm, Bellringers Afternoon 2:30-4pm, church open until 7pm;

Friday 16th December – church open from 10am, Tots Christmas Service 11am, Simple Lunch available from 12-2pm, church open with Crafty Ladies in the afternoon and continuing until 8pm;

Saturday 17th December – church open from 10am, Alvechurch Community Concert at 11am, church open until 1pm;

Sunday 18th December – Christmas all-age Festival Service 10:30am, Christmas Tea 4:30pm, Carols by Candlelight (including Bellringers and Withybed Poets), 6pm.

St Laurence Churchyard

Andy Humphries writes...

The churchyard year is fading fast with Christmas not too far away, so time for an "end-of-term" report. 2016 weather has been fairly kind, especially a dryish Autumn and the churchyard has been looking reasonably tidy most of the time. For that I'd like to thank our main volunteers, Barry & Lizzie Lunn and Basil Booth, for all their hard work during the year. They've put in hours of mowing and strimming, even after our churchyard stores were broken into again in June. The thieves levered off a secure lock-box on the shipping container and took all the portable tools, so we've now fitted internal bolts and an alarm system to the container, plus a camera on the outside. That's 3 burglaries in 3 years ...hugely frustrating ...but the volunteers gritted their teeth and just kept going, for several weeks managing without some tools and with others stored off-site. They deserve a real pat on the back !

The winter months will see those volunteers doing their usual pruning and cutting back, with the occasional bonfire to get rid of the large amount of material involved. We hope you'll understand that a few fires are necessary and hope they don't cause too many issues for near-neighbours of the church. Last winter we took out a few ash trees that had grown around the churchyard and we'll be removing some more this winter.

In the last 3 years the volunteers have had a couple of pieces of equipment donated by local people....a small mower and a leaf collector....both invaluable. If you or a neighbour is thinking of passing on a machine that's too big for you, maybe you might think of helping us by donating it ? It would be much appreciated.

Finally...the vast majority of our visitors treat the churchyard with respect and we're grateful for that. Can we politely ask dog walkers to keep their dogs on leads and bag-up their faeces.... and ask all visitors to leave flowers and plastic bags in the bins provided rather than outside them, where animals can rip them open. We empty those bins twice a week but if they are full, please help us by taking the rubbish to the large yellow wheelie bin in the turning circle near The Lawns. As in previous years, we'll leave Christmas wreaths on graves until the end of February, but then clear them as they will have died. If you wish to re-use a wreath, please remove it before then.

Thank you for your support.

Christmas Poems

Christmas is multifaceted: for Christians, it's a time to pause and wonder at the miracle of the Christmas story, God entering this world as a dependent child, beginning on the road that leads to death and Easter and resurrection, and encompasses the wide breadth of human experience. It's a time for celebrating family life, and all the rich traditions of giving and sharing; a time for presents, and food, board games, winter walks and Christmas TV, a time for relaxing and enjoying the season. But it's also a time of overindulgence; of overspending and over eating and getting drawn in to the commercialism of it all, followed by the post-Christmas 'blues' as the credit card statement arrives.

Here are three poems expressing some of the joy and of the tension that the Christmas season brings. They are written by three members of Withybed poets and reproduced here with permission.

Christmas

Winter means woodsmoke, mulled wine, and snow,
Frost on the windscreen, ice on the paths,
Dark mornings, short days, and a lingering dusk
Which begins at teatime, when the lamps are lit,
And before the curtains are drawn,
From the street we see our lives
Wrapped in a warm cocoon, on the other side of the glass.

Winter is kind to the rich, cosily wrapped up from the cold,
Choosing gifts and a lighted tree for the festive season,
Caught up in the spending spree, and a tinselled world,
Busy with parties, and cooking, and family fun.
But the poor, and the lonely, and those who step aside
May hear a different music under the tinny tunes,
And glimpse the real Christmas,
When a poor homeless couple find shelter in a shed
And a baby is born, and angels sing,
And God takes the hands of the helpless,
And leads them home.

Jenna Plewes 2007

Christmas

Which is it to be?
Awe at mysterious vulnerability,
Emmanuel;

or festive fun with the next generation of children with sparkling eyes full of anticipation,
a celebration of family
a time to seek ways of delighting, surprising with stuff that I hope will bring joy.

It's a time of contrasts,
sometimes incompatible claims on my heart,
that inner place, that core of who I am that place reserved for moments of what I call love

Meeting their loneliness and for brief moments covering it with untidy spent wrappings and torn off labels,
aromas that tantalise the palate,
smells that linger creating a store of memories of days when grannies were old

And still I'm torn
The myths of Santa colliding with
The incredible reality of incarnation.

Sue Phillips 2007

Christmasquerade

Goodness gracious, Christmas is nearly here. It's been creeping ever closer, since Boxing Day last year.

The T.V. ads are frantic, luring to spend your cash,

On so much superfluity, an abundance of gaudy trash.

All that glisters is not gold, it's likely made of tin,

One way or another, it will probably go in the bin.

Ask yourself beforehand "Shall I give it a place, Or will it turn out to be a sorry waste of space ?"

If you buy any more raiment it will be a sorry clanger,

There's no more room in your wardrobe for even one more hanger.

If you gobble one more mince pie, it'll go straight on your hips,

Put more weight upon you than a bucket of fish and chips.

So be a fine upstanding Scrooge, like me and my Midas friend,

Your piggy bank will groan with money, if only you buck the trend.

Gordon Parsons 2016

May 2016 be a Christmas that leaves you fulfilled in all aspects; in giving and receiving, in the sacred and the traditional.

Charity Begins at Christmas

After the Advent church service, eight year old Lee said to the preacher: 'When I grow up, I'm going to give you some money.'

'Well, thank you, the preacher replied, but why?'

'Because my father says that you're one of the poorest preachers we've ever had.'

Letter from the Bishop Of Dudley

Creating a Manger in our Lives.

A fable from my childhood came to mind recently. It went something like this:

In the carpenter's shop the tools were tetchy.

"Brother Hammer, you're too noisy."

"Me? Brother Plane's work is all superficial. No depth."

"Me? Brother Tape Measure is always telling others what to do, measuring us all by his own standards."

"Me? It's Brother Screwdriver who drives us all crazy going round in circles."

"Me? Sister Sandpaper always rubbing the wrong way."

"Me? Sister Saw goes back and forth endlessly."

Then the footsteps of the carpenter could be heard and the bickering ceased. When he entered the shop, he put on his apron, went to his bench, and picked up Brother Tape Measure, then Brother Plane, then Brother Hammer and Sister Screwdriver, then Sister Saw, and lastly Sister Sandpaper, whom he used to smooth all the rough edges of the manger he had made. A manger for a herd of animals to snuffle their noses in so as to find the oats in the bleak midwinter.

Perhaps through the season of Advent we should make a manger in our lives, being guided by he who learnt these skills in a Nazareth workshop.

Measure where we are in relation to he who gave the length of his.

Plane away the places where forgiveness is needed.

Hammer against the injustices of the world and screw together the fragments in need of reconciliation.

Saw away the dead branches that need to be pruned so that we might grow.

Sand the rough edges of our tongues, our thoughts, our lack of generosity.

In such a way we respond to the invitation "come let us walk in the light of the Lord" and Jesus is laid again in the manger of our lives and our communities.

From the manger he looks at us, and the whole world, with eyes of peace and forgiveness and love. Just as he will when others use their carpentry skills to fix a wooden beam to a tree outside a city wall.

Travel well this Advent in the company of the master carpenter and see again his most amazing creation, not in wood and nails, but in flesh and blood.

Flowers for DECEMBER

By tradition there are no flowers in church again until Christmas Day. I will be in church on Friday 23rd December from 9.30am to decorate for the Christmas services. I really would like some help with this most enjoyable task. Please, please get in touch with me either personally in church, by telephone or email to offer help. I would be very happy to have some of our lovely children coming along to lend a hand and to add their special touch to the arrangements.

Christmas Services

The churches in Alvechurch are preparing for the special services during the Christmas season.

St Laurence will hold the Service of Nine Lessons and Carols at 6 PM on Sunday 18 December. This is part of a long tradition of telling the Christmas story in readings and music with some well-known carols for everyone.

St Laurence will hold two Family Nativity Services on Christmas Eve (Saturday this year), which will include favourite carols and the story of the Nativity: children are preparing to perform in the drama at the 4 PM service and at the 6 PM service.

The Midnight Communion Service on Christmas Eve at St Laurence begins at 11:30 PM and welcomes in Christmas Day.

There will be one service for everyone on Christmas Day (Sunday) with an All-age Communion Service at St Laurence on Christmas morning at 10:30 AM.
